About Us

Alamby Fashion Established in 2010

Alamby Fashion is a China-based clothing manufacturer with over 15 years of experience serving brands across the USA, Europe, Australia, Japan, and the Middle East. We specialize in small to medium batch production, offering full-service support from fabric sourcing and sampling to bulk manufacturing and private-label packaging.

We work closely with startups, independent designers, and growing brands, combining flexibility, clear communication, and Western-quality standards to bring your collections to life — reliably, efficiently, and with care.

Mission & Vision

At Alamby Fashion, our mission is to empower brands through reliable, high-quality garment manufacturing.

01.

Empowering Fashion Brands

We help brands of all sizes turn creative ideas into high-quality garments with low MOQ of 100 pcs and full-service production support.

02.

Building Long-Term Partnerships

Our focus is on transparency, consistency, and reliability — creating lasting relationships with our global clients.

03.

Delivering Consistent Quality

Every piece we produce reflects our dedication to craftsmanship, attention to detail, and on-time delivery.

Founder's Statement

Sofia Qin Founder & CEO Statements

- ✓ Direct communication with every client to ensure transparency and personalized support.
- ✓ Strong focus on quality and trust, no matter the size of the order.

Every piece we make shows our care for your customers and our commitment to clear communication.

At Alamby Fashion, we believe that clothing manufacturing isn't just about machines and timelines — it's about people, communication, and trust. As the founder, I stay in close contact with every client to ensure their ideas are understood, respected, and brought to life with care.

Whether you're launching a small line or scaling up, my team and I are here to support you every step of the way — from fabric sourcing to final packaging. Your success is our success.

Inside Our Factory

Alamby Fashion: Quality Meets Precision

Our 2,000-square-meter manufacturing facility is strategically located in China's garment production hub, enabling us to offer unmatched efficiency and consistent quality. Equipped with advanced sewing machines, precision cutting equipment, and specialized finishing tools, our factory supports flexible production runs, catering specifically to small and medium-size fashion brands worldwide.

From fabric sourcing and initial sampling to bulk production and final inspection, each step of our process is carefully managed by skilled professionals with extensive garment industry experience. We closely supervise every stage, ensuring quality standards remain high while turnaround times are minimized.

Our experienced team carefully selects fabrics and trims that meet your specifications and budget, while our dedicated quality control specialists meticulously inspect every garment for defects, consistency, and compliance. Attention to detail, combined with direct communication between our production team and clients, ensures that every collection we manufacture meets exact client expectations.

At Alamby Fashion, our factory isn't just about machinery and capacity—it's where quality craftsmanship and precision create garments that reflect your brand's vision perfectly.

DETAILS

Initial Consultation

Discuss your designs, specifications, and requirements directly with our team, ensuring clarity on style details, fabric choices, timeline, and budget from the start.

Sampling & Approval

Our skilled technicians create detailed samples based on your tech packs or ideas. You review, test, and approve these samples before production begins.

Bulk Production

Upon sample approval, we source all necessary materials and commence bulk manufacturing, carefully supervised at each step to ensure consistent quality and precision.

Company Details

Every garment passes thorough quality inspections, ensuring adherence to your specifications. Once approved, we securely pack and coordinate efficient shipment directly to your destination.

Our Service

End-to-End Garment Services

At Alamby Fashion, we offer a full range of services to support your brand — from idea to final shipment. Whether you're developing custom styles (ODM/OEM), sourcing fabrics, or buying wholesale-ready garments, we're here to help. We also guide you through Chinese fabric markets, ensuring the best choices for quality and pricing. With 15+ years of experience, we offer practical consulting to make your manufacturing journey in China smooth, cost-efficient, and successful.

OEM Manufactur-

We turn your tech packs into high-quality garments with precision, fast lead times, and low MOQ (100pcs per color/style).

ODM Development

Have an idea but no design? We create samples and collections based on your concept or references.

Fabric Sourcing

We source the right fabric for your product — by color, texture, durability, and budget.

Wholesale Garment

Need ready-made garments? We supply quality wholesale items for fashion drops or fast sales.

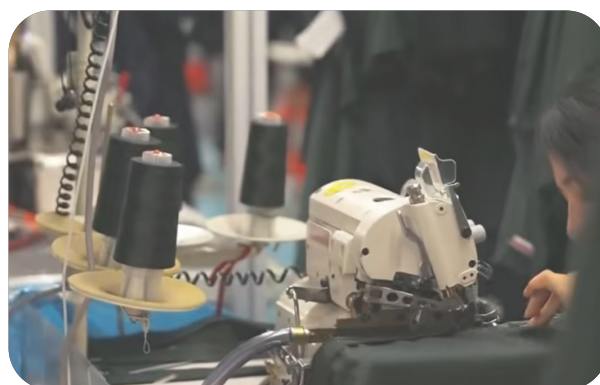

Market Guidance

Visiting China? We guide you through fabric markets in person or remotely to save time and money.

Production Consult

From cost estimates to quality control advice, we help you make smart decisions during production.

Product Portfolio

Our Work
Speaks for Itself

Crafted for Brands, Built to Last, since 2010

At Alamby Fashion, we bring ideas to life with precision, creativity, and a strong commitment to quality. This portfolio represents just a small sample of the thousands of styles we have produced for fashion brands across the USA, Europe, Australia, and Asia.

Our strength lies in versatility — from timeless dresses and structured outerwear to activewear, swimwear, plus-size collections, and children's apparel. Each piece you see here reflects our attention to detail, expert construction, and ability to adapt to a wide range of designs, fabrics, and sizing needs. Whether it's bold seasonal trends or evergreen basics, we work closely with each client to translate their unique vision into fully realized garments that meet both brand identity and market demand.

We support both small and mid-sized labels with low minimums, fast sampling, and private label finishing options. Our clients appreciate our consistent communication, flexibility, and hands-on approach to every production stage — from fabric sourcing to final delivery.

This portfolio is more than a visual reference — it's proof of what's possible when thoughtful design meets reliable execution. Whatever your next collection requires, Alamby Fashion is here to make it
